Abstract

On October 11, 2022, Resolution No. 17 of 2017, which mandated foreign employers to obtain a permit from the Labor Market Regulatory Authority for specific professional activities, was officially canceled. This decision signifies a change in the regulations governing foreign employers. With the revocation of this resolution, foreign employers will no longer be bound by the requirement to obtain permits from the Labor Market Regulatory Authority to engage in those particular professional activities.
