ANNEXED NOTE

1. Technical Notes and Definitions

Since 2016, Labour Force Surveys are conducted quarterly.

Sampling frame: Population Census 2010.

Sample size: 33,500 households

Population of reference: All the members of the households selected in the sample, including domestic helpers and the like who live in one house; Saudi and non-Saudi population, living in the Kingdom at the time of the survey.

Period of reference: Q4, 2017

Since Q3 2016, instead of survey results, the Labour Force Surveys' publications display administrative data: the records of Saudi and foreign labourers covered by social security schemes

(private and governmental sectors), and Ministry of Labour's records of domestic labourers.

1. Labourers in the governmental sector are recorded by the Ministry of Civil Service.

2. The Social Insurance Law of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia has become compulsorily applied to all Saudi workers in the private sector of any other GCC Member State effective from 01/01/2006. Saudi and foreign workers in the sector have to be recorded by the General Organization for Social Insurance (GOSI).

3. Since 2017, the Ministry of Labour and Social Development records all labourers in the domestic sector.

Therefore, data presented here may differ from the concerned ministries' records of actual employment.

.Moreover, the present data do not include employees in the security and military sectors and employed persons non-registered in the records of GOSI and MCS

2. Institution which provides data

General Authority for Statistics (GASat), Saudi Arabia

3. Data availability

CDSI's, and later GASat's Labour Force Surveys are available online on GASat's website since 1999:
