ANNEXED NOTE

1. Technical Notes and Definitions

Since 2016, Labour Force Surveys are conducted quarterly.

Period of reference: Q3

Since Q3 2016, apart from sample survey results, the Labour Force Surveys' publications display administrative data:

the records of Saudi and foreign labourers covered by social security schemes (civil service and social insurance), as well as Ministry of Labour's records of domestic labourers.

1. The public sector includes those subject to Civil Service regulations and government employees subject to social insurance regulations (GOSI)

2. The Social Insurance Law of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia has become compulsorily applied to all Saudi workers in the private sector and to citizens of any other GCC Member State, effective from 01/01/2006.

Saudi and foreign workers in the sector have to be recorded by the General Organization for Social Insurance (GOSI).

3. Since 2017, the Ministry of Labour and Social Development records all labourers in the domestic sector.

The present data do not include employees in the security and military sectors and employed persons non-registered in the records of GOSI and MCS. Therefore, data presented here may differ from the concerned ministries' records of actual employment, and from the results of Labour Force Surveys, which incorporate all workers in their samples.

2. Institution which provides data

General Authority for Statistics (GASat), Saudi Arabia

3. Data availability

CDSI's, and later GASat's Labour Force Surveys are available online on GASat's website since 1999:
