Abstract

MoHRE established a labour inspection committee that will look after implementing rules and regulations issued by the concerned ministry. It will establish a positive work culture ethic, workers' safety, labour accommodation, and crimes related to human trafficking. It will also provide information that supports developing labour legislation and regulating the labour market. Moreover, it will provide information and guidance to business owners and employees to reinstate the employment relationship and build healthy communication rapport between the parties to the relationship to ensure that common interests are respected.
